HEWITT AWAITS TREK TO HIS DOOM

GOV. DONAHEY SAYS HE WILL NOT INTERVENE TO SAVE YOUTH

Death House Ready for Electrocution of Slayer.
17 YEARS OLD
Boy Unworried as Mother Visits Him in Cell.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6.—Ohio's death house at the state penitentiary is ready for the electrocution of 17-year-old Floyd Hewitt, of Conneaut, tonight. The self-confessed slayer of a mother and her young son is the youngest Ohioan ever to be sentenced to die in the electric chair in this state.

Youngest to be Electrocuted.
Spending his last hours with his mother, who came to his cell in death row early this morning, Hewitt, seemed unworried. He has made no requests, according to Warden Thomas and awaits his fate in apparent equanimity.

Last hopes of saving the boy killer were abandoned this morning when Governor Vic Donahey announced that he would not intervene.

Hewitt will be the youngest person ever electrocuted in Ohio and the second youngest ever executed in the state. A youth a month younger than Hewitt was hanged at the penitentiary 38 years ago.

Efforts to prove that Hewitt is feeble-minded and to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment failed when the state board of clemency refused to recommend such action after a hearing two days ago.

Confesses Brutal Murder.
Hewitt confessed to one of the most brutal murders in the criminal history of the state—a double killing at Conneaut last Feb. 14, when a mother and her five-year-old child were beaten to death.

The victims were Mrs. Fred Brown and her five-year-old son, Fred Brown, Jr. The husband and father was away from home at work the night of the tragedy.

Young Hewitt, a neighbor, frequently visited the house and listened to the radio, he said. The night of the (Continued on Page Eight, Col. One.)

Warn Your Women.

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of the Review-Tribune.]

B. C. FORBES foresees keen automobile competition in 1928 with lower prices for good cars, higher quality for lower prices.
Cars of 100-horsepower will be sold below $2,000 and one manufacturer will even cut Henry Ford's new low prices.
As Ford himself said, "Anybody that can sell as good a car for less money or a better car for the same money will get the business." The public will buy five million cars this year. Knowing that it is getting the best in value and price that industrial genius can produce.

HORRIBLE news from Bagdad reminds you even war has improved. The Sheik Faisal of Dowish raided another tribe, killed every male including children, carried off all property, leaving miserable women of the tribe to starvation.

NOT so long since all war was more or less like that. Conquered cities were turned over to victorious armies for pillage and murder. Recent wars among so-called civilized races have not purposely killed children or non-combatants. Europe can rise from the latest war calamity because women are left behind to rebuild the nations.

The next war unfortunately may tell a story that would make Sheik Dowish seem kindhearted. War from the air with explosives and gases suffocating and destroying will be a war without discrimination or mercy. Hu-

New Move to Delay Execution of Ruth Snyder Complicated

LINDY MAY GET ANOTHER MEDAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Charles A. Lindbergh may get still another medal if congress passes a bill introduced by Representative Kelly (R.) of Pennsylvania.
The bill creates an air mail flier's medal of honor, to be awarded by the president to any mail flier who has "distinguished himself by heroism or extraordinary achievement while participating in such service." The bill covers a period from 1918. At least twice during his air mail career, Col. Lindbergh faced hazardous flights for his life during fogs.

FIREMAN SAVES WOMAN AS HER HOME BURNS

John McDonald Hero at Heath Dwelling Blaze.

LADDER IS USED
Roomer, Awakened by Smoke, Calls Fire Fighters.

Fireman John McDonald of the East End fire station, essayed in the role of a hero at 1:30 o'clock this morning when he rescued Miss Mattie Heath, janitress at the Little building from the front porch roof when her home in Erie street caught fire.

Herbert Smith, a roomer in the Heath home, was awakened by smoke and investigating found the house filled with smoke. He aroused Miss Heath, and finding their escape down the stairway cut off by a dense cloud of smoke they climbed to the front porch roof through a window.

Screams of Miss Heath, clad only in her nightgown, awakened Mrs. Jane Pratt, a neighbor. Mrs. Pratt called the fire department.

McDonald, who arrived within five minutes after the alarm was sent in, raised a ladder to the roof and carried Miss Heath to the ground. Smith then descended the ladder to safety.

The blaze which is believed to have originated from a defective electric light wire, caused damage estimated at $200. The fire was confined to two rooms but smoke filled the entire house.

The house, a five room frame structure, is owned by George Pratt, Third street.

TWO AUTOMOBILES REPORTED STOLEN

Automobiles belonging to A. E. Webber, of the Crocker City Ice & Products company, and M. A. Hepps, of the Hepps Grocery company, were reported stolen here last night.

Webber's machine, a Buick sedan, which had been parked in West Fourth street near the Woodbine Laundry, was stolen at 9:15 p. m. It was light blue in color with natural wood wheels and carried license No. 171-247. Its value was placed at $2,000. Hepps' car, a 1927 model Chevrolet coupe, was stolen from the Weaver garage, East Fourth street, near the Vodrey pottery. Hepps discovered the theft when he went to the garage at 6:15 o'clock this morning. Its license number was A-1212.

Machines belonging to Norbert Newtwick and Homer Rissner which were reported stolen Wednesday night, were recovered by police yesterday.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 6.—George Remus today was ordered to remain in jail pending final settlement of the lunacy case against him, when Judge Charles Bell, of

New York Supreme Court Justice Puts Over Insurance Suit Until Jan. 13.

DENIES ACT WILL STAY HER DOOM

Defense Claims Condemned Woman's Testimony is Essential in Fight.

By James L. Kalgallen.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—A new move to delay the execution of Ruth Snyder entered a complicated stage today when an application made by her attorney, Edgar F. Hazleton, before Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy in chambers was put over "by stipulation" until January 13.

Mrs. Snyder and Henry Judd Gray are scheduled to die in the electric chair on the night of January 12.

Hazleton petitioned Judge Levy to have tried by the jury of the Prudential Insurance company to cancel the $50,000 insurance on the life of the slain Albert Snyder. Mrs. Snyder is one of the defendants and would necessarily be a witness in the case.

"Will the stipulation act as a stay of execution for Mrs. Snyder?" Justice Levy was asked.

"No," he replied.

Executioner Visits Prison.
Mrs. Snyder shuddered when she heard that the executioner, Robert Elliott, was in the prison—that he had breakfasted there this morning, at the warden's table.

Elliott in the last year executed 11 persons in New York, eight in New Jersey and six in Massachusetts, including Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. With the execution of Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray he will have had four executions in New York this year. Ruth Snyder is the first woman he has been called upon to execute.

"Yes, I believe in capital punishment," he said. "It seems to be the only logical deterrent to crime."

Governor Smith has indicated that he will deny the pleas of Mrs. Snyder and her former paramour, Henry Judd Gray, for clemency. He showed coldness to the appeal that Mrs. Snyder was in the "twilight zone" of insanity and Gray did not know what he was doing when he killed the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, with a sash.

Gray is not involved in the new move to stay the execution.

Pin Hopes on Legislation.
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Counsel for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, scheduled to die in the electric chair next Thursday for the murder of the woman's husband, today pinned their final hopes of saving the lives of the condemned pair on a fragile thread of legislative action.

Governor Alfred E. Smith has indicated that he will not grant clemency to Gray and the widow, but Assemblyman Christopher C. McGrath, New York Democrat, will introduce a bill in the state legislature next Monday night to abolish capital punishment in New York state. As soon as the measure has been introduced, Edgar F. Hazleton, counsel for Mrs. Snyder, and William J. Millard, Gray's attorney, plan to petition the governor to reprieve Mrs. Snyder and Gray until such a time as the legislature has taken final action on the abolition proposal.

Display of 1928 Models in Walnut Street Building.

Sole ownership of the Buckeye Motor company, corner East Sixth and Walnut streets, has been acquired by Ray R. Birch, who has purchased the interest of Dr. W. A. Hobbs, it was announced today.

Name of the firm has been changed to the Ray Birch Motors. The transaction included not only the transfer of the business to Birch but also the building, a modern three-story brick and concrete structure in which sales quarters and service departments are housed.

The new owner will continue as local distributor for the Hudson and Essex automobiles, the 1928 models of which are on display today.

The Buckeye Motor company was established in 1914 by William Litten and associates. Dr. Hobbs entered the company in 1915, while Birch acquired an interest four years ago. Since the death of Monroe Patterson, three years ago, the business has been owned solely by Birch and Hobbs.

Crowd Views New Cars.
Scores gazed this afternoon, and still larger crowd is expected tonight and Saturday.

Two Hudson sedans, an Essex sedan and a coach are the cars on display today. Delivery of a Hudson coupe is expected on or about January 15.

Motorists here are viewing the new cars simultaneously with the throngs who attended the national Automobile show in New York.

CLAPSADLE GETS $177.50 VERDICT

Verdict of $177.50 in favor of the plaintiff was rendered by a jury of six persons in municipal court yesterday in the suit brought by City Engineer Flay Clapsaddle against The Litten Motor Sales company.

Clapsaddle asked for $217.50 for engineering services on the construction of a concrete culvert over Tan Yard run near the Litten filling station, West Eighth street. The city, it is claimed, paid $40 of the bill, this being deducted from the amount of Clapsaddle's claim.

The jury deliberated about an hour before returning a verdict.

STATE LEADER

Officers Installed at Travelers' Hotel Meeting.

Open defiance of the law and a spirit of apathy on the part of the voters at elections is threatening the very foundations on which the United States stands, Homer H. Swaney, Beaver Falls attorney and governor of the Pennsylvania Kiwanis district, told more than 50 members of the Kiwanis club and their guests at a dinner in the Travelers' hotel last night.

Swaney warned concerning the activities of the Bolsheviks and Communists who, he declared, were pledged to work for the overthrow of the republican form of government in favor of Soviet rule.

"Give the criminal and the law breaker his just dues, rob the jails of their comfort and you will eliminate much of this open disregard for law," he said.

Officers, who will serve during 1928, were installed at last night's meeting. They are: Rev. B. R. Johnson, president; Ralph T. Couch, first vice president; Frank S. Huff, second vice president; Carl E. Gruber, secretary; C. C. Ashbaugh, treasurer, and Dr. W. A. Hobbs, trustee.

Mellettt Murder Plot Case Date To Be Set At Lisbon Next Week

Judge W. F. Lones, Who Will Preside at Second Appearance of Former Canton Police Chief Before Jury in Criminal Hearing, Will Call Conference of Attorneys.

STARK COUNTY'S PROSECUTOR AND SHERIFF VISIT COURTROOM

Columbiana County Officials, Who Will Receive Records Next Tuesday, Provide Accommodations in Section of Courthouse for Press Representatives—Reservations at Hotels.

Although not officially determined, the second trial of former Chief of Police Seranus A. Lengel, of Canton, charged with complicity in the Don R. Mellett murder plot, probably will open in the Columbiana county common pleas court at Lisbon on Monday, February 6.

Judge W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, who is 62 and is now serving his second year on the bench, will preside at the trial, he said today.

Definite date for the trial, transferred from the Stark county courts when the defense motion for a change of venue was granted by Judge Edwin W. Diehl, of Canton, will be set at a conference of state and defense attorneys with Judge Lones at Lisbon, probably during the latter part of next week. Records in the case will be brought to Lisbon next Tuesday by Deputy Clerk of Courts Milo Cathon of Stark county.

First move in arrangements for the trial was made yesterday afternoon when Prosecuting Attorney Henry W. Harter, Jr., and Sheriff Ed Gibson of Stark county conferred with Judge Lones at Lisbon.

To Call 30 Witnesses.
The state is expected to bring about 18 witnesses to Lisbon, and one, or two of these will be transferred from the state penitentiary to the Lisbon jail. The defense will introduce probably 10 or 12 witnesses.

At least a day or more is expected to be occupied in selecting a jury, and after the jury has been sworn and opening statements of counsel have been made, the jury probably will be taken to Canton to view the scene of the crime.

Because of the ruling of the Court of Appeals, considerable testimony admitted into the record during the Canton trial will be eliminated from the second trial.

Hotel Reservations Made.
Accommodations will be made press representatives in a section of court room No. 1. No cameras will be permitted in the court room during the progress of the trial.

Hotels are also preparing to care for a large crowd. Several room reservations have already been made.

Transfer Case Next Tuesday.
CANTON, O., Jan. 6.—The Seranus A. Lengel murder trial will be transferred (temporarily) to Lisbon, Columbiana county, next Tuesday, it was announced here today by Milo W. Cathon, deputy clerk of courts. The journal entry ordering the transfer has been filed and Judge Edwin W. Diehl has ordered Lengel to enter into a new bond for his appearance before the Columbiana county court during its January term.

Cathon said he would personally take all the papers in the case to Lisbon, and it is probable that defense attorneys will go at the same time to ask that a trial date be set by Judge W. F. Lones.

Prosecutor Henry W. Harter, Jr., and Sheriff Ed Gibson left late Thursday for Lisbon to make arrangements for the trial. Clerks have been busy making up the transcript which will record all the proceedings in the case since Lengel was indicted last summer in connection with the murder of Don R. Mellett.

She is the wife of Daniel Cronin, president of the Standard Pottery Co., East Liverpool. Her father, a Republican, formerly was mayor of East Liverpool.

Mrs. Cronin is a close friend and adviser of Mrs. Wilma Sinclair Levan, Steubenville, Ohio member of the Republican national committee. She also, is chairman of the women's division of the Columbiana county republican central committee.

JEALOUS YOUTH KILLS GIRL

Ohioan Shoots Because She "Smiled at Other Boys."

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6.—Because she "smiled at other boys," Anthony Yontez, 19, shot and killed Alice Preskar, 19, after the couple returned to the girl's home from a dance here last midnight, the youth told authorities investigating the shooting today, detectives said.

Yontez, according to the officers, said he attempted to shoot himself, after he wounded the girl, but the trigger on his gun jammed. Police declared that his revolver showed a bullet lodged in the chamber.

Yontez was calmly smoking a cigarette when police arrived at the scene of the shooting. Arresting officers declared the youth readily admitted that he had quarreled with Miss Preskar, and that he finally drew a revolver. "Put the gun away," the girl was quoted as having said to him, whereupon he fired a bullet into her heart. She died almost instantly.

Yontez was formally charged with the murder this morning.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

A GOOD CITIZEN

Much talk these days about the job of being a good citizen—and the indifference of most of us. These words of the late Theodore Roosevelt ought to be pasted in the hat of every man of voting age: "The first requisite of a good citizen in this republic of ours is that he shall be able and willing to pull his weight, that he shall not be a mere passenger, but shall do his share in the work that each generation of us finds ready to hand; and, furthermore, that in doing his work he shall show, not only the capacity for sturdy selfhelp, but also self-respecting regard for the rights of others."

POWER OF ACTION

An immense jumbled mass of knowledge has been gathered together during the last few years. In the middle of the last century the world hardly dreamed of finding out so many things. The great problem now is to sift and classify this knowledge, to coordinate it, to get it into the brains and hands of the people. Our problem now is to find a practical way of giving the world the benefit of knowledge.

LACK OF TRUST

While we are talking about the spread of knowledge we ought to shed tears over our short-sightedness and general inability to pick the right men for office in city, state, and national government. As a people we have been fortunate in getting many good men into positions of importance in the national government. Now and then we have an able state governor or a man or two of ability in state office. Infrequently we have capable men at the head of affairs in city government—except in some of those cities which are turning to the city manager form. When a really able man does run for office we don't like the way his hair is parted and vote for somebody else. There seems to be in most of us a tendency to distrust those who know more than we do.

It has been said before that a democracy is a good form of government only when it breeds leadership, and then breeds the good sense to trust that leadership.

YOU ARE SOMEBODY

Never think of yourself as unimportant. You have a unique personality. There is not and never will be anybody quite like you. You can do certain things in a certain way and nobody else can do exactly the same. All people and judgement carry a real responsibility—the responsibility for a unique performance.

"I have done," said Roosevelt, "the things that I could do." Few can say that.

Call Things by Their Right Name

We give a big high sounding name like "sacrifice" to some act which really consists in a plain sort of duty. We are hypnotized by words. And it is a harmful condition to encourage. It affects the mind badly.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES SOUGHT

Farmers of Ohio can expect lower freight rates on fertilizer in the near future in the opinion of C. S. Long, traffic director of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Long's comment has just been received at the office of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau on the present status of the effort of farmers to secure lower rates.

Farm bureaus of Ohio made formal complaint to the interstate commerce and Ohio Public Utilities commissions on fertilizer freight rates in this section more than four years ago. Hearings were held and evidence presented that farmers in the central states were paying a higher rate on fertilizer than in other sections. While the contention was upheld by the examiner who presided at the first hearing, carriers have succeeded in holding off any actual reduction, and another hearing was held early in December combining the complaints of farm bureaus of the middle west with a number of fertilizer manufacturers.

CHILD CAUGHT COLD; -PNEUMONIA FEARED

Worried Mother Grateful as Clinic Shows How to Give Quick Relief at Home

SOON BACK AT SCHOOL FEELING WELL AS EVER!

No longer is it necessary to stand by helplessly when children's colds bring fear of pneumonia. For hospital physicians now recommend to mothers a pleasant home method to end head colds, coughs or chest colds—and hundreds of East Liverpool children have been given the same quick sure relief that came to the little daughter of Mrs. R. H. Gordon.

Little Estelle caught a severe cold while out riding a week ago Sunday. Nothing her mother used kept the cold from spreading from her nose passages to her chest. On the third day the child coughed so deep Mrs. Gordon feared pneumonia and called the clinic, where doctors gave her double doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a pleasantly flavored mixture of wild cherry, white pine and other ingredients which have relieved even the most extreme children's cases in the hospital.

Relief began almost immediately. By night the child felt like playing with her Christmas dolls for the first time in several days. The next morning she looked more cheerful and likelier—and in a day or so, doctors report, all traces of the cold were gone.

Note: See other cases—all certified to this paper by the physician who treated each case.

Even sick children love the pleasant taste of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Doctors recommend it because it is as safe as the purest food—made only of pure wild cherry, white pine, glycerin, terpin hydrate and other ingredients which have found to be the quickest and most dependable to stop coughing spells and break up the cold. At all drug stores 50c and $1.00 for hospital size.

NO NEW THEORY IN VELMA WEST MURDER QUIZ

Deny Reports of Second Person in Killing.

HUSBAND VICTIM

"Blind Rage" Story of Flapper Widow Stands.

PAINEVILLE, O., Jan. 6.—Reports that authorities are working on a new theory in the Velma West murder investigation, to the effect that the 21-year-old "hammer murderess" is shielding a second person, were denied today by Sheriff Ed Rasmussen.

The sheriff declared he had no evidence that would tend to contradict the confession of the "flapper widow" that she beat her young husband, Thomas Edward West, to death with a claw hammer, in the bedroom of their cottage home at Perry, Ohio, the night of Dec. 6.

A "blind rage" prompted her, she says, after West had spoken disparagingly of her friends and relatives and slapped her face. Despite this confession, in which the slim blonde from Cleveland's West Side assumes sole responsibility, the rumor persists that she had an accomplice.

Previous to the slaying, the two had quarreled, it is pointed out. The man would presumably have been on his guard, thus making it difficult or impossible for so small a woman to attack and overcome him with a hammer.

Sheriff Rasmussen when informed of these rumors declared he knew nothing of them. Unless there are other developments the state will continue to act on the assumption that Mrs. West's confession is the true and complete account of the killing, he said.

Breaking through the wall of semi-secrecy which has surrounded the state's plans, Lake County Prosecutor Seth Paulin today announced that Homer Harper, of Painesville, former county prosecutor, had been retained to assist him in efforts to send the youthful blonde widow to the electric chair.

Simultaneously it was learned that Paulin and Sheriff Rasmussen had visited Cleveland this week to question prospective state witnesses. Both refused to divulge any information regarding their trip, however.

The state today was completing plans to present evidence in the case to the Lake county grand jury which convenes here next Monday, January 9.

New Municipal Buildings

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum told the Kiwanis club last night that the city, if council acquiesces, will submit a two-fold proposal for the erection of municipal buildings to the electorate at the November election.

According to the mayor, a $250,000 bond issue will be asked for the erection of a new city hall on the Sixth street site to replace the present dilapidated structure at Third and Market and the construction of a new Central fire station on the Broadway lot. Of this sum, it is proposed to expend $200,000 on a building to house all city offices, instead of paying rental as is now done, while the remainder of the available funds will go into the fire station.

If present plans materialize, a 25-year period will be required to liquidate the bonds and interest, necessitating probably a half mill tax levy, or 50 cents on each $1,000 valuation.

The people seem convinced that the buildings are needed, for a proposed $225,000 bond issue for the purpose received a majority vote, but lacked the 55 per cent required by law one year ago.

The present city hall and Central fire station are eyesores and should be replaced with modern and adequate structures.

Postal Torpedoes

Paris tells of a new French plan for expediting mail delivery. It contemplates the use of an "aerial torpedo." This torpedo would not be literally fired through the air like the long range German shells which bombarded Paris during the war. But it would have almost the speed of such a projectile, traveling at 250 miles an hour and suspended on wires, and driven by electricity. Every shell would carry about 50 pounds of letters and other important mail matter.

It is not the proposal of some mere theorist, but is soberly recommended by the government's chief engineer and aeronautics, the chief engineer of an important railroad and a professor of the Polytechnic Institute. Such a line, they say, could be built for about $6,000 a mile. It would span the country in two and a half hours.

The mechanical idea is not exactly new. Twenty years ago Tom L. Johnson, then mayor of Cleveland, who had operated electric traction lines in Brooklyn and elsewhere, was working on a system by which passengers were to be transported in trolley cars slung from single rails, up in the air, at a speed of 100 to 200 miles an hour. It is the same mechanical principle that is often used in cash-carrying systems in American stores.

Doubtless it is practical enough to ship mail matter in that way. But won't airplanes soon serve the purpose adequately?

Annoyances

A college professor who has turned his scientific mind to the study of human annoyances, just as other professors study bugs or stars or business curves, says he finds five things most annoying to the present generation:

- Driving from the back seat;
- Reading the titles aloud in a movie show;
- Halitosis;
- Sucking one's teeth;
- Baby talk.

He has picked these out from a list of 507 different annoyances that he has studied and classified, so they must be authoritative.

Incidentally he learns that women are more easily annoyed than men; also more annoying.

Now let some scholarly person study and classify the things that give most pleasure, and publish both lists, with interpretative notes and recommendations, and then we'll have easy rules to live by. At a moment's notice we can turn to the index, look up page such-and-such, and know instantly just how to please or annoy somebody else, according to our preference.

A Financial Good Deed

One individual who certainly started the new year well is Reuben H. Donnelly of Chicago. Back in 1905 the brokerage firm of which he was a member failed. The courts exonerated him of all responsibility at the time, but he determined nevertheless to assume full moral and financial obligation to the injured creditors.

Now, after 22 years, he has paid back between $600,000 and $700,000, representing payment of 100 cents on the dollar and interest.

It was a pretty big job to locate all the creditors of their heirs, but it has been done. The last check was put in the mail by New Year's Day. That, said Mr. Donnelly, was pure coincidence, not sentiment. The whole procedure he regards as a "business transaction."

Honor and graciousness are found often enough in this occasionally sordid world to justify optimism and faith in the fundamental goodness and soundness of humanity.

Two Pleasing Ukases

Without at all admiring Mussolini's political methods, one cannot help a little sigh of envy at the way he cut through traditions and red tape to effect two very simple reforms. He abolished tipping in Italy and "passing the hat" in all government offices by a mere ukase or two.

Anybody who really yearns to contribute to any fund in a government office may do so of his own volition. But the soliciting habit with pre-arranged lists and quotas is henceforth taboo.

Any bold and self-respecting group here could probably accomplish the same worthy ends without submitting to a political dictator. But in this country we just don't seem to do so. Tipping is always about to be abolished, and passing the hat seems only too permanent.

Lindbergh proves, along with other things, that the most effective national defense is just plain, human good-will which doesn't cost a cent.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire—

By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Thoughts while strolling: The pleasant cop at 5th avenue and 56th street. Mauve lights in velvet draped windows. The golden cock on the Hecker building. Nan Britton, who wrote "The President's Daughter"—and not a head turn.

Those women who smoke cigarettes waiting for autos in front of dress-making parlors. More buildings resembling wedding cakes. Jesse Crawford, the movie organizer. A crowd before a daguerreotype of Barnum and Tom Thumb in a photographer's cabinet.

The Ship Grill—where patrons may take dogs. An ex-jockey driving a taxi. Whatever became of the Golden Tons? The apartment house where Peggy Joyce used to live. Jack Curley. Sullen looking men who loaf about garage entrances.

The glitter of Viennese bakeries. Wedding costumes for rent. Palmistry parlors. Ambling hag crosses herself in front of a church and stumbles on. The eerie quiet of a hospital street. And those garrulous orderlies hanging about the ambulance gate.

East Side children with baskets of chins. Old people who seem to sit at upstairs windows throughout the long winter. Corner loafers with pulled down caps. Barber colleges. The eerie choral chant from a Russian church. A little white coffin followed by a single cab.

A woman smacks a spindly child. A hatless drunk shadow-boxes in front of an undertaking parlor. Unkempt silent crowds around labor bulletin boards. Advertising doctors who stress social ills. Flip talking girls chewing gum and making the best of poverty.

A group of those imported dancing girls who flash in and out the musical comedies with such mechanical precision recently quit a hit show on 48 hours notice and sailed to their native land. It is said that during their eight months' stay not one had the pleasure of masculine companionship. Front row enthusiasts, on the look-out for dancing girls for supper after the show, were not interested. And the stage manager is authority for the opinion the girls worked so fast they became a mere bright blur and were as quickly forgotten.

Abe Martin Says:

"O' course we wuz tickled t' death t' see her, but she makes so much ashes," said Mrs. Finley Mopps, whose daughter is home from school for th' holidays. I never like t' ask where th' mail box is in a hotel 'cause I'm allus standin' right by it.

There is the story of a rich young collegiate who has missed chapel several mornings to frolic about Broadway with a lady with a penchant for blackmailing ideas and a decadent taste for clear white gin. He was warned the lady was strictly Nietzschean—living hard and dangerously. But that wasn't what cured him. The other evening, when good college boys should be in dormitories, he answered her phone and inquired who was speaking. The voice replied to tell her it was "Dad-dums." The lady went to the telephone to prattle baby talk and the young gentleman went sadly out of the apartment building. He had recognized his father's voice on the phone.

The number of his taxi is 21111. Inside was a small vase of fresh flowers and in a rack an open package of cigarettes and matches. On the way during a long drive he stopped to get the latest edition of the evening paper. He thought a 50-cent tip was too much—a quarter he considered ample. And I have been wondering since where in the world he came from.

In a swank silversmith shop on the avenue there is a window display of a silver cocktail shaker surrounded by delicately flanged, thin stemmed goblets. An engraved card stands against the shaker reading: "An ancient receptacle used to agitate liquids."

Today I donned a necktie sold under the guarantee "an exclusive pattern sold only to a single customer" and in a four-block walk I saw a half dozen exactly like it. It is only the comforting counsel of the Blessed Promises that keeps me going.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Pension Question Again.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—The first general disability pension act for veterans of the World war was introduced into Congress at the present session, Senator Smith Brookhart of Iowa being its sponsor. While the bill probably will not pass at this session, it marks the first official step toward pensions for World war veterans, and opens up a subject which is probably destined to have a prominent place in our scheme of government for many years to come. The late President Harding once predicted that the pension cost of the late war would be greater than the cost of the war itself, and fixed 100 billion dollars as a rough estimate of the total pension cost over a period of 60 years. His statement met with some ridicule at the time, but when it is recalled that the first real advance in general disability pensions for civil war veterans came in 1890, 25 years after the war, and the Spanish war bill was passed in 1920, or 22 years after that war, it is evident that any prediction that we shall not have general pensions for World war veterans is rather premature. Harding's prediction that we will have them was based on a careful study of historical facts.

From the outset of the World war, a vigorous effort was made to avoid pensioning the veterans, disabled or otherwise, of that conflict. War Risk Insurance was first conceived as a substitute for pensions, and widely heralded as such. Compensation for men disabled in line of duty was established, and his effort to segregate those disabilities having service origin, from disabilities which might develop later, was another earnest effort to eliminate any future need for pensions.

When these acts were before Congress, many of the older members opposed them and predicted that they would never take the place of pensions, and would merely complicate the situation and prove very difficult and costly to administer. These and many other acts were passed, nevertheless, including the Vocational Training Law for disabled men, various hospital bills, and subsequently many amendments to the war risk insurance and compensation acts.

As a result we have a different basis for considering the World war veterans than the one used for civil and Spanish war veterans. A veteran of either of the earlier wars, if and when he may become disabled and unfit to earn his living, is entitled to a pension. If he dies, his widow is entitled to a pension. These rights are his whether he was wounded in action in the war, or is hit by an automobile today, or acquires rheumatism or any other ailment tomorrow. The facts that he served in one of these wars and that he is disabled cover the whole case.

The World war veteran, on the other hand, has no pension law, and may receive compensation (which is perhaps just another name for a pension) only if he acquired some disability while in the military service. In that case his compensation rate is much higher than the civil or Spanish war pension rate. But if he gets hit by a truck today, or breaks down with disease tomorrow, he has no claim on the government whatever. The whole basis of the World war veterans status before the government rests upon whether his disability is of service origin.

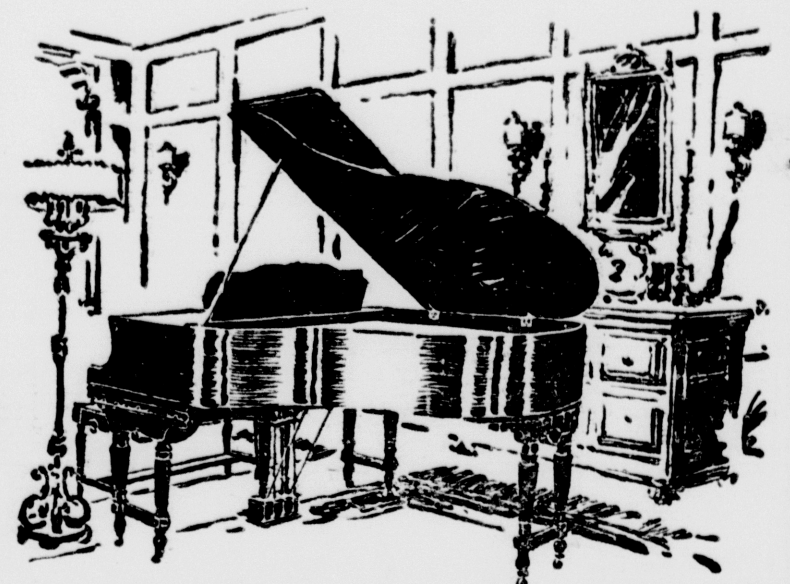

What is Service Origin? This seemed, when passed by Congress, to be perfectly right and fair. It would take care of the war wounded and war diseased, and not place on the government any responsibility for what happened to a soldier after he went back to civil life. Unhappily the fact has developed that it is practically impossible to establish the origin of disease in many cases. If a man develops tuberculosis today, did the disease originate with the influenza he suffered in the army or the poison gas he inhaled, or did it originate in a bad cold he caught sleeping off a jag in the gutter last week? That is the sort of thing which the present law calls upon the United States Veterans' Bureau to decide. In the former case, the disease is of service origin, and compensable under the law. In the latter case it is not. Who can answer? The best physicians will admit they can not in many cases tell within a period of years just when tuberculosis originated. The same is of course true of many ailments.

As a result of this difficulty, if not impossible, requirement that every World war veteran's claim must be based on disability of service origin, the United States Veterans' Bureau maintains 54 branch offices throughout the country, many hospitals, and some thirty thousand employees including hundreds of physicians. The bureau makes every effort to arrive at a fair ruling in each case. It costs the government fully ten times as much to investigate and settle a World war claim as it does a plain pension claim, and the World war claims seldom stay settled. After service origin is established, there is a long task of ascertaining the percentage of disability, on which the rate of compensation is based.

Present System Complicated. Thus the complications of the present system have developed that it is practical-

Don't dope YOUR COUGH

It is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germs laden mucus loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery.

PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and it is absolutely harmless.

man intelligence could prevent it. But it must make arrangements before intelligence disappears, in the fierce hatred that comes with the war spirit.

IF YOU have daughter, sister or wife struggling to develop "a boyish silhouette" by starving, tell her tuberculosis is increasing because women foolishly desire to be thin.

In the past women have had cancer more often than men, but men have more often had tuberculosis.

By some doctors this was called the only good result of tight corsets. Consumption usually forms in the apices, the top part of the lungs that in men are usually not sufficiently inflated and supplied with oxygen—women squeezing their waists were compelled to breathe high up and thus protected the apices.

The modern slumped down posture in girls and women has done away with that protection.

REPORTS to the French minister of agriculture show that a great desert is forming in the Argentine, rivers and springs disappearing, great sand storms sweeping considerable regions and the desert area steadily increasing. Presumably, however, the energetic Argentine republic will know how to deal with that problem.

SIMILAR desert growths like great ones on Mother Earth, have spread over the land in ancient times in the past when men were helpless. Present arid conditions in Palestine and areas stripped of fertile soil in once all-fertile Mesopotamia show scars of ancient affliction.

These sicknesses of our old earth will be no longer a menace when men obtain power unlimited from sun, tides or atomic energy. Then, instead of deserts, gardens will spread over the earth.

Hammondsville Barn
Raiders Steal Stock

Bull and Heifer are Taken From Cort Iddings Farm During Night.

Two head of valuable stock owned by Cort Iddings, farmer, living on the Wellsville-Hammondsville road, about a mile from the McCullough Children's home at Yellow Creek, were missing today as a result, it is believed, of a raid by unidentified thieves.

Launching a district-wide search for the stock this morning following discovery of the loss, Iddings told police that the stock evidently was taken from the barn between 7 and 10 o'clock.

The thieves' "loot" consisted of a 1,300 pound Hereford bull and a 400-pound heifer.

Iddings, discounting the theory that the cattle may have walked out of the unlocked barn itself, told police that it was impossible for the stock to get out without being led. Imprints of shoes in the moist earth around the barn were discerned by the owners, it is said.

Iddings says he believes that the cattle was led down the pike past the children's home.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"Any day but that!"

It's exasperating when men don't understand—and embarrassing when they do. Women who have learned of Midol don't have painful periods.

Midol is not a narcotic. It acts only on the organs affected. Perfectly safe, but swift; it brings complete comfort in five to seven minutes! No matter how hard a time you've always had, Midol will dispel every particle of pain. It is only common sense to use it, for it does nothing to hinder the normal, natural process of menstruation; but makes it painless.

Get Midol in the trim little case of aluminum, for purse or pocket; fifty cents, at any drugstore.

W. H. Banfield, Builder Of Chester Mill, Dies

Funeral Services for Pioneer Steel Man Will be Held in Steubenville Tomorrow.

Funeral services for William H. Banfield, 73, retired manufacturer and financier, who died in Cleveland, will be held tomorrow in his home in Steubenville.

Mr. Banfield, who was born in Staffordshire, England, was a pioneer in the steel industry in which he was engaged for more than 55 years. With other capitalists, he built the present Chester tin mill, later selling it to the American Sheet and Tin Plate company.

Locating first in Leechburg, Pa., in 1872, he remained there for seven years as a heater and roller and then became manager of the plant and occupied that position for the next six years.

Mr. Banfield went to Jefferson county in 1885, and with others, purchased the Pioneer Iron Works plant and established the Irondale Rolling Mill company under the sub-title of Wallace, Banfield & Co., Limited and engaged in the manufacture of fine grades of black and galvanized iron and soft sheet steel.

In 1892 the company built two tin mills and converted their sheet mill into a tin mill and were the first to manufacture tin plate in great quantities under the McKinley bill. In 1899, the company sold out to the American Tin Plate company and in 1900 the plant was dismantled.

He was district manager for the American Tin Plate company for three years, and then joined the Follansbee Brothers Sheet and Tin Plate company as vice president and general manager in charge of construction and operation of both the plants at Follansbee and at Toronto until his retirement three years ago.

At time of his death, Mr. Banfield was president of the Union Savings Bank and Trust company of Steubenville, a director of the Citizens' bank of Follansbee, chairman of the board of directors of the Ohio Valley hospital association, trustees of the children's bethel at Smithfield; president of the East Ohio Sewer Pipe company at Irondale; a director of the National Roll and Foundry company of Avonmore, Pa., and the Freeman Fire Brick company, of Zella, and owner of the Silica Sand company of Niles, and the Banfield Clay company at Irondale, Ohio.

He was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church and aided in building the First Presbyterian church of Follansbee. He was a generous giver and contributed to many causes.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Daisy Kirk Banfield, and five sons and two daughters, Harlow F., of Wellsville, James W. and Walter G., of Toronto and Wallace P. and Judson S., of New York. Mrs. J. J. Scroggs, of Beaver, Pa., and Miss Wilda Banfield at home. Four sisters also survive, Mrs. Mary Hatley, of Wheeling; Mrs. Thompson Duff, Miss Sara Banfield and Mrs. Margaret Parshol, all of Pasadena, Cal.

Woman Artist Honored.

Mrs. Laura Knight, whose election as an associate of the Royal Academy in London was announced not long ago, is the first woman honored in this way since 1769. Although Angelica Kauffmann and Mrs. Moser were original members in 1769, there had been neither women members nor associates from that time until Mrs. Knight was elected. She is one of the most vital and interesting of present-day artists in England. Her work, essentially modern, is robust and forceful, and she is noted for being able to express what she sees with a directness and animation. In order to paint "Caraval," her picture of the Russian ballet in action, she passed many hours at the theatre during rehearsals and performances. The result was a masterpiece.

Rare Whales Stranded.

The 150 whales that stranded on the shore of the Dornoch Firth, Scotland, not long ago, turned out to be of a rare type and the British Museum has been busy collecting specimens. The whales presented a troublesome problem. Whose whales are they, was the question. Finally the Board of Trade accepted responsibility and designated the marooned leviathans as "fishes royal," which gives them the legal status of "wrecks." In consequence, the Receiver of Wrecks for the area is handling the whale crisis as best he may. A Leth firm, who are manufacturers of chemical fertilizers, have contracted to take the carcasses and the skeletons will be sent to the British Museum. Meantime, most of the whales are still alive and enjoying good health.

Details of Interest to all Motordom

THE new Hudson and Essex Super-Sixes come to the Automobile Show in completely new and arresting design, strikingly in advance, and at once brilliantly original and authoritative.

The full unity of their beauty is a swift impression, impossible to dissect; and yet a detailed study of the advancements is of interest not only to Hudson-Essex owners, but to all motordom.

Newness begins at the very front, in higher radiators on both Hudson and Essex—an effect that is further heightened by vertical radiator shutters. The motorometer has been removed from the front to the dash, and is now replaced by handsome radiator ornaments.

Lamps are of Colonial design, and are of the parabola type controlled from the wheel. Saddle lamps of the same type are mounted on the cowl by means of a crossing nicked band. Fenders are of new design, full-crowned and beaded along the edge.

All bodies are lacquered in duo-tones, and carry a moulding all the way around, and out the cowl and hood to the radiator.

The front pillars are trim and narrow. In standard models the visor is the military type.

All Essex models are larger and roomier than ever before.

The instrument board is finished in a polished ebony. Set into this background is the grouping of instruments, including the ammeter, oil and gasoline gauges, speedometer, and motometer, all indirectly lighted.

The handsome new steering wheel has a steel core surrounded by ebony-black hard rubber and carries light control, hand throttle and horn button.

Hudson custom-built bodies are the Victoria, the Landau Sedan and the 7-passenger Sedan. In all of them, the front body pillars are notably slender. The windshield frames are nicked, so that the fronts of all three cars are quite distinctive and striking.

Body construction is of aluminum panels over a frame of selected hardwood. Lines are original and striking. Mouldings and color panels are employed to bring about distinctive effects. The rear quarters are finished in long grain landau leather, colored to match the upper body.

Four-wheel brakes are, of course, standard in both Hudson and Essex.

Elks Face Damascus Quakers Here In Amateur Loop Battle

LEAGUE LEAD STAKE IN TONIGHT'S CLASH

Antlers Must Register Second Straight Win Over Bye's Quint to Remain at Top; Salem in Action at Salineville.

Although leading the circuit today by a half game margin, chiefly by virtue of their victory over Damascus the other night while Salem was topping the Salineville Kivans, the East Liverpool Elks of the Columbiana county circuit will not be permitted to rest lightly on their laurels until after tonight's league festivities.

Two games scheduled tonight—Damascus at East Liverpool and Salem at Salineville—may have more to do with determining the outcome of the first half race than any remaining week of play, providing their are no future form flops on the part of the pace setters or unexpected uprisings by the lower teams of the loop.

How the comparatively little members of the Elks' squad were in and around the legs of the sturdy Damascus to such a decisive 32 to 17 victory the other night on the Goshen township school court is more or less a mystery to a few followers who did not see the game and probably to some of those who did.

But for the benefit of those who witnessed not the performance the act will be repeated again here tonight on the high school court although the result will depend upon the number of field goals.

The ranking of the first four clubs in the league stand to undergo a considerable shaking up in tonight's contests.

If Damascus wins the Quakers will go into the leadership and the Elks will slip back into third place providing Salineville wins from Salem. In which event the Kivans would be tied again with the Damascus for the top berth. If Salem should win, however, the Elks, in event of a defeat by Damascus, would drop into second place and Salem and Salineville would be deadlocked in third place. If East Liverpool wins tonight, however, what the others do will make little difference.

Captain Smith Anderson will probably be back in his position at guard. Anderson arrived home from Parkersburg just a few hours previous to the game at Damascus and was unable to make the trip to the northern end of the county.

Crawford or McCannville will be found at the other defense post, with Canine at center and Pusey and Wilson on the forwards.

GROOM SOPHS FOR MT. UNION QUINT

ALLIANCE, Jan. 6.—There is a possibility that both forward positions on the Mount Union college basketball team will be filled by sophomores Friday evening when Ashland and Mount Union colleges clash at Alliance.

Coach Robert D. Wright has been grooming Sweet and Glenwright, sophomores, and Koppel, a substitute on last year's team, to take the place of Danny Myers, a veteran forward who injured his knee in the Allegheny game at Meadville, Pa., shortly before the Christmas holidays. With the prospect of not being able to play Myers again this season, Coach Wright is working on a new offensive combination.

Myers was the center of the Mount attack previous to his injury.

B. & O. Passers In 2nd Place In "Y" League

Boost Rating as Result of 45-22 Win Over C. & P. Five.

B. and O. basketballers wrecked the C. and P. outfit last night in a "Y" league game by the score of 45 to 22. The teams were tied for the cellar position in the "Y" race and last night's victory put the B. and O. quint on even terms with the Nickle Plates for second place.

The game was a fairly well played article of the cage sport. The game during the first period was pretty even, the C. and P. combine having the edge, 10 to 9, at the first intermission. In the second period the B. and O. passers took the lead and when the quarter was over they had a commanding margin, the count being 25 to 15 at half time.

In the last two periods the B. and O. outfit made the game a runaway scoring almost at will, the final count being 45 to 22. The losers were compelled to play with four men.

All the B. and O. passers played good basketball and all figured in the scoring with the exception of Heath and Roush. Swaney was the principal scorer.

Pollock, Burke and Ankrum were the chief performers for the C. and P. Ankrum leading the scorers.

WIGGINS CHECKS CUBAN'S CAREER

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 6.—Rolaux Saguro, the demon punching light-heavyweight champion of Cuba, who knocked out his first three opponents in a Chicago arena silly in recent bouts, had his meteoric career checked here last night when Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, affectionately known as the "Hoosier heart", was awarded the decision over the dusky hued gent from Havana.

"DUTCH" REUTHER

DUTCH REUTHER wound up his big league career with a surprising number of victories last season. Though he is not the pitcher he was a few years ago, he turned in 13 wins for Huggins, which proves that he is as smart a pitcher as there is in the game. When a pitcher's arm weakens on him, he has to save something between the ears to win games.

BOWLING

The Bankers copped three in a row from the Indiana Trucks in the Liberty duckpin league last night and today are leading the race with a perfect mark in the percentage column.

The Trucks made their most strenuous bid for a game in the opener of the match when they rolled a very neat 74. But it was evidently the Bankers' night. The latter rose to the occasion and turned in a count of 311 for that game and captured the two subsequent events.

Bill Mangum holds the record for high single game score as a result of the efforts that netted him a 228 count the other night. The former record was 224, set by Deltz of Indiana Trucks.

Victory Motors landed two out of three from the American Billiards in the American dux circuit last night and succeeded in tying the league standing in a two-way knot. Helmies and Victory Motors are up at the top and the Billiards and Turk Nash are down at the bottom.

Ted Ganas, of the Billiards, who set the pace in average performance during the first half of the league season with a mark of 150, set out to improve the figure when he rolled a three-game total of 489, his series including scores of 169-160-160.

Eddy, however, was high with a three-game figure of 490 and a single game score of 203. The Motors set a new total pin record with a tally of 2,197.

TY IS THROUGH, THAT IS, UNLESS—

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Ty Cobb is through with the playing end of baseball unless something "mighty unusual" comes along to entice him back to the game.

Cobb, who came to Washington to get some of his not inconsiderable income tax matters straightened out with Uncle Sam, told friends he did not know where he was going to be the coming season. He may not be in the game at all, he said, and certainly not as a player unless some mammoth breaks out in a rash of real money.

Play on Greens Big Factor in Coast Tourney

Putting to Decide Los Angeles Golf, Stars Agree.

By Charles F. Carter.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 6.—One hundred and twenty-eight professional and amateur golfers, including many of the world's greatest shot makers awaited here this morning the start of a possible game and fortune in the Los Angeles' third annual $10,000 open championships.

The tournament, a 72-hole grind with $3,500 as stake for the player turning in the best low gross score and the remainder of the $10,000 being split up among the next 24 best scorers, opens with an 18-hole round today, followed by 18 holes tomorrow. On Sunday the final two rounds will be played with the 64 low scorers for the first two laps battling it out for the cash in the offing.

Indications today were that the player who could fathom the Wilshire greens would be the successful candidate for the 1928 championship.

However, despite the speed and the trickiness of the greens, sensational scoring is expected to feature the play.

A number of the stars have had rounds of par and under in practice the past few days, and when they open up with their heavy guns in seriousness, "Old Man Par" is certain to take a rather heavy beating.

Willie Hunter, local pro, who has had two rounds of 67 in practice; Al Watrous, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who has a 69, and Tommy Armour, the national open champion, were all agreed today that the battle for the championship would be decided on the greens and not off the tees and through the fairways. The latter was the case, more or less, last year at El Caballero, when Bobby Cruikshank stroked his way to the 1927 Los Angeles open title to relieve Harry Cooper of the crown he had won the year previous at the Los Angeles Country club.

Title Shot Is Goal Fans Await In Bout With Lomski

Sharpshooters Like Champion in 15-rounder Tonight at Garden, Although Distance Favors Challenger.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Tommy Loughran, champion, and Leo Lomski, challenger, battle tonight in a fifteen round bout at Madison Square Garden for the world's light heavyweight championship.

This simply worded paragraph tells a story without amplification and embellishment, therefore it tells almost nothing. It takes no cognizance, for example, of the fact that a great fight not only is in prospect but also that, seemingly, a great fight is inevitable. It doesn't tell of the fact that both of the principals feel they are on their way to bigger and finer things like the heavyweight championship and that they regard tonight's activities as the first, and therefore the most important step toward achieving the ambition in question. It doesn't say that Loughran is a fighting champion or that Lomski is the most worthy of challengers. It is the skimmed milk of what probably will be a rather frothy occasion.

For all anyone knows at this premature moment, either or both of the principals can hold his own with all the heavyweights in the land. That is the way they are figuring it, anyhow, and so they will eye one another tonight from opposite corners with the calculating appraisal that is the tacit admiration of one fighting man for another.

Seek Decisive Win.
They think so well of themselves, indeed, that both are conniving toward one end, namely, that they may win so decisively that they will be able to take the play away from the Sharkey-Heeney winner the following week. Only one of them, perforce, can do this and the sharpshooters say that he will be Loughran. Anyhow, the champion remains a receding favorite at odds of 6 to 5 and, if you don't think the lads are reaching for their leather on this one, then you don't know that Chateau Thierry isn't a scientific conjurer.

They are betting plenty, in fact, and the house is a virtual sell out, so great is public interest in the proceedings. The bout don't need any smoke-up. Loughran and Lomski attended to that themselves and in person, Tommy's dazzling performance with Slattery and Leo's winning starts against Tony Marullo, Maxey Rosenbloom and Yale Okun bringing the customers on the dead run.

They think they are due to see something and they will if they aren't stone blind. Lomski has the entire east on a lead chain as the result of his busy, bustling, battering style and his disposition to fight any one any time has made its play for popular appeal. Then again, it will be match between a good fighter and a good boxer.

MULLEN PLANS CHICAGO CARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Smiley Springer and Joey Ross, weighing 118 pounds, will fight the eight-round semi-windup to the Bud Taylor-Babe Ruth event at the Coliseum Tuesday night, promoter Jim Mullen announced today.

Taylor and Ruth are scheduled for ten rounds to a decision. Bud's bantamweight title will not be at stake. The champion is said to have emerged in good condition from his recent fight with Tony Canzoneri at New York.

er and that combination seldom fails to click.

Altogether, the affair looks so promising on paper that some of the boys are recalling the famous Stanley Ketchel-Joe Thomas middleweight championship fight in California and telling their readers, both of them, that Loughran and Lomski will react that classic drama. However, there is no state law demanding that you believe that one, Loughran, seemingly, is a fast boxer without a punch. Lomski is a good fighter without too much tragedy in his gloves. The referee is understood to have broken his arm counting over the knockdowns in the Ketchel-Thomas fight.

As a matter of fact, Ketchel's competitive ghost wouldn't have been exhumed at all if it wasn't for the fact that Lomski is a Pole, too. They had thought up about everything else to say about Leo, including the bestowal of titles like the Aberdeen assassin and the pelting Pole, and were just about typographically speechless, when some one recollected that the distance from pole to pole is 12,000 miles as the crow flies and twenty years as the clock turns. Anyhow, they are trying to make a Ketchel out of Lomski, which is a good trick if you can't do it.

Lomski, however, has a great chance tonight. He is favored by the distance, being a body puncher and featuring almost unlimited stamina. Loughran has even a greater chance. He is favored by nature and the old girl seldom goes wrong.

Paddock to Race in Gotham Games

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Charley Paddock, "world's fastest human," will race in the east for the first time in several years at the Columbus Council, K. of C. games here on February 29, according to an announcement by Frank S. Brennan, chairman of the Columbus Council games committee.

Fans Await Homecoming Of Hurstmen

Will See Blue in Action Against Akron South Tomorrow.

FOLLOWERS of high school basketball may feel they have waited a long time to get a view of their Blue and White in action against a standard scholastic foe this season but their patience certainly will be rewarded soon with the Hurstmen scheduled to open the home stand tomorrow against Akron South. And after that there will be Salem, Wellsville, Steubenville, Akron Central, Bellaire and others coming in order with a few road tilts here and there by way of diversion.

The Blue has played only once on the home court this season and in that performance they nosed out a victory over a strong Alumni organization.

Tonight they go into action at Steubenville. But this may take on some semblance of a home game in view of the number of fans who expect to take advantage of special car rates to see the team in action on the Jefferson county court.

One special, at least, two if patronage warrants, will leave the Broadway terminal at 6:30 o'clock, being scheduled to make the trip to Steubenville in approximately an hour. The Stubbers are reputed to have a faster quilt this year than usual but Hurst's squad should win if they play up to form.

Walker Didn't Think Himself "Hot" as Actor

Replies to $25,000 Suit by Picture Firm.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Mickey Walker has no illusion about his histrionic abilities. Sued for $25,000 in the supreme court here, Mickey announced that he is a fighter and not an actor, and has no hankering for klieg lights.

Mickey signed with the Stadium Picture Corporation to perform in a series of 12 two-reelers back in 1925. However, Mickey claims that Benny Leonard also signed a like contract some years back, with the same organization and did not fare so well. Therefore he decided that the ring needed him more than the silver screen.

"Ad" Breaks Engagement.

An advertisement in a newspaper was used in England a few weeks ago to break an engagement. John Pearce was the one who employed this unique method of ending a betrothal. His daughter had become engaged to Canon Michael Pryor, 70 years of age, vicar of Holy Trinity, Margate, Kent, aged 80, a retired owner of a chain of restaurants, did not approve, although the Canon is a distinguished scholar and author of several books on theology and sociology. His advertisement reads: "Mr. John Pearce, of Haddon Lodge, Dulwich, wishes to announce that the engagement of his daughter, Maude, to the Rev. Canon Pryor, of Holy Trinity, Margate, is cancelled, and the wedding fixed for January 7 will not take place."

Explores for "Devil" Beast.

Dr. Gann, the explorer, is in Central America exploring the mysterious caverns sealed with cement which the natives say are haunted. In these, he thinks, will be found relics of the Maya civilization. He is also seeking a wonderful "devil" beast, which may still live. A French entomologist told him that in this region he discovered a valley, in the midst of which a palm tree waved although there was no wind to move it. He sent a native guide to investigate and later found the tree. As he was dying the native begged faintly to be saved from "the great devil." There is a theory that the giant sloth, the iguanodon, may still survive among the wilds, although it is supposed to have become extinct at least 2000 years ago.

Japan will have a ten-mile tunnel.

Toledo Club May Hold Two Speed Meets

But Will Demand Opening Dates at Stewards' Session.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 6.—The Toledo Driving club, which last year staged the richest inaugural in Grand Circuit history, will agree to give two more dates this season, with one provision. That is it again be awarded the opening dates at the annual circuit stewards' meeting, January 9-10 at Atlanta, Ga.

William Holt and W. F. Staler, president and secretary respectively of the local club, are prepared to make a determined bid to present the first speed carnival. In addition to agreeing to stage two meetings, they have another strong point that is expected to swing all opposition into line. That is the renewal of the two $20,000 stakes, the Pace Dairy Pace and the Hotel Seecor, which featured a $70,000 program last year.

It is believed Grand Circuit stewards cannot turn Toledo down as two meetings would greatly strengthen the lineup of America's premier light harness racing circuit and two $20,000 events would boost the purse money to be offered tremendously. A second Toledo meeting would come in mid-summer.

Last season, the trot and pace proved two of the best races in the country. In the former, Hazelton, of Atlantic City and in the stable of Walter Cox, suffered one of only two defeats of the season, Clayworth, Toledo gelding, winning in straight heats. Peter Etawah, driven by Nat Ray of North Randall, champion driver of 1926, captured the pace after Berry the Great had traveled a mile in 2:00.4.

In the past year 272,000 houses were built in England.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

Chicago Merchants Had Good Business During Holidays

CHICAGO.—Merchants in the Chicago area reaped a harvest of $183,000,000 during the holidays, a survey revealed. This sum, experts have computed, is about six per cent less than the amount spent by shoppers last year. The survey included forty department stores, drug stores, confectionery, radio and music shops. Included in the sum too is the actual expenditure for Christmas "eats."

Experts arrived at the figure by computing that Chicago department stores do an annual business of $322,395,800 and twenty per cent of this is spent during the holiday period.

Facing want, two boys at Saitama, Japan, grasped hands, threw themselves under a train and were instantly killed.

C. OF C. WILL AID IN CENSUS WORK IN CITY

Schedules Will be Mailed to All Manufacturers.

USE 155 FORMS

Washington Bureau
Will Publish Statistics.

Chamber of Commerce has arranged to cooperate with the bureau of the census in taking the census of manufacturers covering the calendar year 1927.

Approximately 155 forms of schedules will be employed. This represents an increase of about 60 forms over the 1925 census. The increase in the number of forms used was made at the request of trade associations, in order that more detailed statistics may be collected for an additional number of industries.

The schedules will be mailed about January 10 and all manufacturers are urged to make their reports promptly. It is important that the reports be made by mail, otherwise the government will have the unnecessary expense of sending a special agent to the various establishments.

The bureau has agreed to tabulate the data as rapidly as the schedules are received and to publish the statistics at an early date after the receipt of the last report, first by industries and later by geographic location.

Lawrence Gray gives a good portrayal of the romantic male role and Gwen Lee, sophisticated Gwen, bursts out with a flame of acting that shows all she needs to become a star is opportunity.

The GOOD LUCK operates on the same principle as a basement furnace—only it is installed in your living room. It draws cool air from the various parts of the house, heats it, then circulates it throughout several rooms—so it is just as warm and comfortable in a far off corner as it is next to the heater — and the air is moist and healthful, too.

THIS new Good Luck will make a pleasing as well as a practical addition to any home furnishings. It can be sold at a price within the reach of all. It is a small cast iron furnace, surrounded by a beautiful casing of porcelain grained mahogany enamel and is washable. It will give more heat, consume less fuel than any heater of its type on the market. It circulates, it radiates. It will hold fire from 12 to 24 hours. It is clean, cheerful and comfortable.

FEATURES

ROUND SLOTTED FIRE POT—The vertical slotted air flues in the body of this fire pot maintains combustion the full depth of the fuel and the full circumference of the fire pot.
GRATE—Draw center type, carried on ball bearings.
CIRCULATION—The cold air is drawn from the floor through the base, is thoroughly heated and discharged from the top of the stove. This method of circulation prevents cold floors and maintains a uniform temperature.

The GOOD LUCK has 99 years of proven performance behind it—
You are taking no chance. Come in today!

Singing and Dancing
-Act on Ceramic Bill

Dainty June & Co. and Florence Vidor Picture Open Two-day Engagement.

Dainty June & Co., five people—in a singing, dancing and comedy act, will be featured in conjunction with the Florence Vidor picture, "Honey-moon Hate," at the Ceramic theatre today and tomorrow.

Shakespeare revealed certain ways of curing a woman of her terrible temper in "The Taming of the Shrew," but Prince Dantari presents some very original ideas in "Honey-moon Hate."

The picture, an adaptation of the magazine story of the same name by Mrs. A. M. Williamson, concerns an American girl, Gail Grant, played by Miss Vidor, who would demand the moon if she desired it. She is amazed at the audacity of handsome Prince Dantari when he refuses her certain things, so she seeks to put him in his place, even going so far as to marry him. He goes through the ceremony meaning to ultimately tame the girl. Their honeymoon is one of anger and continual warring, but the Prince wins out.

Tullio Carmichael is to be seen in the royal role, while an excellent supporting cast is promised. Luther Reed directed "Honey-moon Hate."

"Electric Power!—
A Consumer-Owned Industry"

Says Haley Fiske
President of the Metropolitan Life
Insurance Company

"There can be no doubt that light and power distribution is a most important element in our life, in the community, in the neighborhood, in the household. The ownership of the electric light and power companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors in public utility stocks, and indirectly, in the hands of millions more of bank depositors and holders of life insurance policies through their ownership of public utility bonds. This is people's ownership under public regulation."*

SINCE Mr. Fiske's statement was made, the number of investors in electric power companies has grown to over three million.

It is estimated that during 1926, nearly four hundred thousand customers bought over three million shares in the electric power companies serving them. All told, over thirteen and a half million shares of stock have been purchased by the customers of these companies. These owners are found in every walk of life. Two companies alone report nearly fourteen thousand customer stockholders, representing 269 separate occupations.

The movement toward customer ownership of industry finds its largest expression in the electric power companies because of the high sense of responsibility developed by these companies in their dealings with the public.

Operated under the American principle of individual initiative, and directed by a personnel of tested integrity and public-mindedness, these companies have so definitely identified themselves with the interest of the public, that the structure of America's prosperity and progress rests to a large degree upon their service.

America's unequalled level of comfort and prosperity, made possible through cheap, abundant power, developed under the American principle of individual initiative, is the best of reasons why that principle should be preserved and perpetuated.

*The complete text of Mr. Fiske's statement will be furnished upon request.

Do You Live In Never-Never Land

Does your family, too, live on the borders of Never-Never Land? Are you never quite out of debt, never quite caught up with the stack of monthly bills, never able to resist the whim of the moment and say firmly, "I won't charge it. I'll wait until I can pay cash and then see if I want it as much as I think I do."

Never-Never Land can be a very disturbing and worrisome place to build a home. Its citizens have tired eyes and dreary lines about the mouth that all of their finery won't eradicate.

Better follow the solid road of Pay-As-You-Go which insures freedom of mind and eventual independence. Buying only what you need and putting the savings obtained thru cash purchases into a home or bank account is the better plan. You can then enjoy life undisturbed by thoughts of what would happen if your earning capacity should suddenly cease and charge accounts come due. It is the difference between success and failure.

ent system point strongly to a return at some time, to the simple pension system, which does not involve long and devious administrative complications. The strongest advocates of pensions will perhaps be those World War veterans who are refused compensation for disabilities not of service origin. Their number will rapidly increase as times goes on and men get older.

The widows of service men now dying will also form a large group of pension advocates. The war risk insurance plan was designed to take care of the widows, but today less than 15 per cent of the veterans are carrying government insurance. While it may be true that the fault of not carrying it rests with the veteran, the fact remains that the debt of the nation to its fighting men has never before been measured by whether or not the fighting man carried life insurance in his later years. The plight of the destitute widow is not lessened by the knowledge that her husband might have had government insurance at a fraction lower cost than private insurance.

Time, indeed, is the great factor in developing the need and demand for pensions, and it is significant that 10 years after the war sees the first general disability pension bill introduced in Congress. Judging the future by the past, it is a safe forecast that such bills will be before Congress constantly from now on, until the time comes when one will be enacted into law. Its form may be modified by the existence of the insurance and compensation laws, but likely as not it will be very much like the Civil war and Spanish war pension acts. Senator Brookhart's first offering of a pension bill is modeled on the older ones.

Many members of Congress believe that a straight pension act would have been much more fair and less costly than the experiments with insurance, compensation, vocational training, and so on, and a bill was before the last Congress to consolidate the Pension Office, the Veterans' Bureau, and the Soldiers' Homes Boards. It disturbs every Congressman with a flair for economy to note that it takes ten government employees to settle a Veterans' Bureau claim, where one is needed in the Pension Office. Consolidating the bureaus, however, would not effect much saving if the various laws remain to be administered. Civil war pensions have cost something like 15 billion dollars in the past 60 years, and the country has not really felt the expense. Thus Mr. Haring's estimate of 100 billions as the ultimate World war pension cost is not so staggering a figure as it seems.

naval strength, naval methods, and and illustrated booklet, "Ships of the Navy," has been prepared by the Washington Information Bureau of the East Liverpool Review-Tribune and is ready for distribution to interested readers.

The pictures of each type of modern fighting craft, from battleship to destroyer, from submarine to airplane, give a precise idea of a modern navy, which is very different from even the war time fleets. Tables of simple figures show the naval strength of each of the great powers, and America's place in naval armament.

While the president is recorded as favoring the Navy Department's recommendation for eight new cruisers, at a total cost of hundreds of millions, some elements in Congress want an investigation of Admiral Magruder's charges of inefficiency, and still others desire another conference for limiting cruisers and lighter craft, submarines, and destroyers. To cast light on the merits of these many problems, the fact and picture booklet has been compiled. It omits the arguments about the Navy, but contains the data on which the reader may judge the condition of the United States Navy at present. A copy of the booklet will be mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps. Requests should be addressed to Frederic J.

CHAPTER XXXV.

That morning—Tuesday—Bob did not eat breakfast at the Borden home. After telling Lois that he had remained in the house all night, he swung down town and met Todd Shannon. Todd was beaming. Together they visited an armchair lunch room and ordered coffee. Then Todd handed Terry the innocuous appearing package which contained $200,000 worth of negotiable securities.

"There she is, Son."

Bob stuffed it gingerly in his pocket. He was more nervous than he cared to admit.

"Didn't sleep much last night, Todd."

"I should reckon not. That's a heap of money."

The boy's eyes were troubled. "You think everything will be all right?"

"Gosh! Yes. Not a worry. You can trust John Carmody."

"I wasn't thinking of that." Bob faced his gigantic friend. "Queer thing, Todd. I've been convicted of a crime and I've served a sentence for it. But do you know that this is the first crooked thing I ever did in my life?"

"Gettin' the game as well as the name, eh?"

"Seems so. I suppose it's natural for me to be nervous. Can't help it. And yet—"

"It's done, ain't it?"

"Yes."

"Then why worry? You couldn't put them bonds back now, if you wanted to. And no matter what you feel, I ain't sorry. I suggest I ought to be sheddin' and tearin' because you really slipped, but I'm damned if I can. Everybody in the world has been lookin' at you cockeyed since that first trouble happened at Borden's plant. Now let's see what they can do about it." He produced a pipe, tamped it full of tobacco, and lighted it.

"What you doin' with them?"

Bob was instinctively evasive. "Hidin' them."

"With Carmody?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"I prefer to handle them myself, Todd. I'm glad to get Mr. Carmody's advice and protection—but this is too much money to trust with anybody but myself. You see, Todd—there isn't a soul who can prove I've taken these—except you, and God knows I feel that you can be trusted. It wouldn't be wise to hand them over to Carmody."

"You ain't afraid of the man?"

"No. But I don't trust anybody entirely. Not with this much money."

At the door of the lunch room they separated. The slim package of bonds in Bob's pocket felt as though it weighed a ton. He kept one hand over the pocket. His one desire was to rid himself of the bonds—and yet he knew that caution was necessary.

When the City Trust and Savings bank opened its doors, Bob Terry was there. He proceeded to the vaults and rented a small box, giving the name of Edward C. Mack. He signed the identification card in a sprawling backhand script, amazingly unlike his usual handwriting. Ten minutes later he left the bank—without the bonds.

He did not emerge directly from the bank into the street. Instead, he went through the lobby of the office building in which the City Trust was located. He felt that there was no immediate danger, yet somehow a feeling of regret persisted. A change had occurred in his life. It was as though he had stood for a long time at the crossroads—then had made his decision. And now he was not at all sure that he had taken the right road.

The thing had come so suddenly. There had been no opportunity for sane and connected thinking. Yet now that he knew he held Borden's future in the palm of his hand, the idea was not as sweet as he had fancied.

Actually, however, he felt safe. His own fear was mental—and of himself. He was not easy in spirit. He tried not to think of Lois. Perhaps, he reflected, she would never suspect him. He wondered what was occurring at the Borden home. It was Tuesday morning; Peter Borden would inevitably have gone to his safe for the bonds. They were to have been taken to the bank this morning. Bob was glad he had left the house so abruptly.

"I wish I knew what happened," he thought miserably.

Lois Borden stood with her back to the window and watched her father make his fourth unsuccessful search. His thin figure seemed pitiful as he stooped with forlorn hope before the decreed old safe, and when he turned her heart went out to him.

He had aged ten years in an hour. His face, usually so ruddy, was haggard and deeply lined. His shoulders were stooped. In his eyes was a hunted light; his manner was one of complete bewilderment and unutterable pain.

"No luck, Dad?" She tried to make her voice brave.

"No dear. They're gone."

Every muscle in the girl's body was taut. All through her father's meticulous search she had been fighting a battle with herself—a grim and bitter fight. On one side—was her duty—and on the other—Bob Terry. She was too much her father's daughter to evade the truth.

"Sit down, Dad."

He seemed old and broken. He obeyed without protest. Suddenly he had lost his dynamic force and was leaning on his daughter.

She did not seat herself on the arm of his chair as he had hoped. Instead, she drew up a chair opposite and sat staring into his eyes. There was a strange power about her; a tightness about the usually soft lips which bespoke determination—and hurt.

"You put those bonds in there yourself Saturday night?"

"Yes."

"No mistake?"

"No dear. I worked at my accounts again yesterday morning and the package was still there."

"The safe hasn't been tampered with?"

"No. Whoever opened it used the combination."

"Well—?" She drew a deep breath. "Who did?"

Peter Borden did not answer at once. And when he did, it was with pointed evasion.

"I cannot know that."

"But you have your ideas?"

"Perhaps, Lois. But once before in my life, I suspected a man of a committing a crime—and because of that I ruined him."

"You are not wrong this time, Dad."

She spoke positively, with inflamed bravery. He looked into her eyes.

"What makes you say that?"

"Several things. Bob Terry and I were sitting in the living room when you put that package of bonds in the safe. We both saw you do it. I didn't pay any attention then—I only remember it now. But it was probably different with him. A few minutes later he received a telephone call."

She spoke in a voice freighted with bitterness. "It wasn't from Todd Shannon."

"I know now. John Carmody?"

"Carmody?"

"Why not? He hates you. He isn't the forgiving, forgetting type. Can't you see now why he has been so kind to Bob? Because Bob was precisely the tool he needed against you; because Bob was in the home—on terms of freedom and intimacy. And Carmody unquestionably knew about those bonds. He telephoned Bob."

"All during Saturday and Monday, Dad, Bob was not himself. He didn't eat his meals here. He avoided us. I knew he was troubled about something. I even went to see Miss Shannon."

"You did that?"

"Yes. She is a fine girl, Dad. I—well, I learned something from her."

Lois' face was very white.

"She and Bob are engaged, Dad."

Somehow, Peter Borden's tragedy seemed to fade by comparison with this.

"I'm so sorry, Lois."

"So was I. Before—Oh! Dad—what difference does it make now? Can't you see that it is Bob who stole those bonds? Can't you see him, bitter and bewildered and under the domination of a forceful, unscrupulous man like Carmody, believing that this evens his account with you? Can't you think his thoughts for him?"

"But, Lois—we're not sure."

"I am. Kathleen was worried. He had been as aloof with her as he had been with me. There was no difference. He was wrestling with a problem. That is my one hope—for him and for you; that he was ashamed, and that he regrets it now. There was no bravado about him. I won't believe he is a criminal. I won't believe—And I'm not making the old mistake, Dad. Something else happened."

"What?"

(To be continued.)

Mr. John S. Flanagan, 703 S. Could not get around, except on crutches, unable to dress or undress myself. Tried everything known to medical science, including two trips to Hot Springs, without relief. Up to this time, had paid out over $10,000, then like a miracle from Heaven, QICKO WONDER LIQUID, was brought to me. ## LINDY TO TELL CERAMIC CITY STORY OF 'V'

Epic of Air Mail
Published in Review-Tribune.

BEGINS MONDAY

Pictures Triumphant
New York-Paris
Flight.

The axiom that an author requires no special literary training if he has a great story to write, has been strikingly illustrated within recent weeks by the enormous success of "We," the book Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh wrote just after he electrified the world last May by his triumphant feat of flying from New York to Paris.

A book written by Colonel Lindbergh before his stupendous achievement—was plain Captain Lindbergh of the Missouri National Guard then—would have meant nothing to the reading public and would have gathered dust on the shelves of the publisher impractical enough to print it. But now, because all the world before seeing the book was aware that its author had a tremendous story to tell, Colonel Lindbergh's own story of himself and his great flying feat has gripped the consular imagination so surely that "WE" is making a record not matched by any piece of writing within the last twenty years.

It will be the great good fortune of the readers of this newspaper to have Col. Lindbergh's story given to them in the columns of the Review-Tribune, beginning next Monday when the first installment of it will be published. Be sure and begin "WE" the day it appears. Do not miss a word of it. You will realize its compelling story power as its chapters unfold from day to day.
